

warehouse manager

The best tool to organize and maintain your product inventory

Web Interfaces are excellent when you make infrequent updates to your webstore or product database.

However, a specialized desktop application is ideal if your business is constantly adding and removing products, updating inventory availability, or adding images.

A key aspect of successful online business is a seamless, scalable product inventory solution. Warehouse Manager helps merchants better organize products:

- It offers a user-friendly spreadsheet interface
- It sorts products into folders
- It adds products to your Zoovy account without reloading the page
- It adds/removes products from navigation categories and lists featured on your web store
- It automatically updates inventory quantities

Optimize Images

- Zoovy Warehouse Manager offers a unique customizable interface
- Gives online sellers the ability to build their own navigation within ZWM
- Allows merchants to work offline while they manipulate and prepare products for submission to marketplaces like eBay
- User-friendly, easy to use

Great fit for many online sellers who:

- Add products on a regular basis
- Add large groups of products to navigation categories
- Wish to better organize their products database through the use of folders, or Management Categories
- Regularly update or modify inventory numbers on multiple products
- Prefer to build products offline rather than using the web interface